

ELLOUISE SCHOETTLE

Storyteller * Producer * Workshop Leader
Television Host and Performer * Blogger

“Ellouise Schoettler’s work reminds us what is best about being human: deep emotion, strong values, unfailing courage and gratitude for those who came before. An Uncommon Artist.”

Ellouise Schoettler

North Carolina native and 20-year professional storytelling veteran, Ellouise Schoettler, is an “old-time southern teller”, just like family storytellers she grew up listening to on her grandmother’s front porch in Charlotte. Except... today she is an iPod toting Grandma blogger who uses Social Media to connect with her fans and storytellers, as well as her grandchildren. Ellouise creates programs by blending personal experience, family lore and memories into heart-warming original stories. If you wonder how storytellers develop programs, take a closer look at Ellouisestory.blogspot.com, the blog she has written for ten years. Her daily musings often find their way into her longer programs. In addition she writes a BLOG on the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Patch.com.

Ellouise produces & hosts two cable TV shows and produces a Washington, DC area storytelling series. In 2013 she was awarded a National Storytelling Network ORACLE Award for Leadership and Service to the art of Storytelling.

Based in Maryland, she performs nationwide for adult, family and youth audiences at various venues, including festivals, colleges and libraries. Since 2010 she has written and performed three new one-woman shows:

Selected Venues:

Womens Military Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, DC
2010 - 2013 Capital Fringe, Wash, DC
2008 - 2011, Rogue Festival, Fresno, CA
Stone Soup Storytelling Festival, SC,
George West Storytelling Festival, TX
Exchange Place Stage, National Storytelling Festival, Jonesborough, TN
The Athenaeum, Alexandria, VA,
Williamsburg Storytelling Festival, VA,
Speakeasydc, DC, Washington, DC
Better Said Than Done, VA, (varied venues)
HearArts, Rockville, MD,
Olde Mecklenburg Genealogical Society, Charlotte, NC

Stories and Programs

Audiences Remember

*original stories * women’s history scary stories * family yarns*

Sampler of One-Woman Shows

*Pushing Boundaries * Finding Gus*

Arlington National Cemetery: My Forever Home

(see all programs on www.ellouiseschoettler.com)

TV Host and Producer
Channel 16, MMCTV.org

Stories in Time: Ellouise Storyteller

Monday 9:15 pm

Tuesday 6:15 pm

Stories in Focus - with a Guest

Tuesday 10 pm

Wednesday 7 pm

The only weekly cable shows in the DC Metro area featuring storytelling.

Contact Ellouise:

ellouise@ellouiseschoettler.com

301-951-1213

ellouiseschoettler.com